Trash Pickup To Begin July 1

Collection of refuse to be disposed of out of town will commence on or about July 1, with an Abington firm handling the bulk of the refuse, Donald G. Craig of Andover the special items and Nabydoski Brothers continuing residential garbage pickup.

This is the decision reached this week as Town Manager J. Maynard Austin announced his intent to award the refuse pickup contract to South Shore Disposal Co. of Abington.

The firm's proposal, coupled with garbage collection by Nabydoski and pickup of recyclable and other material by Craig total $887,988 over a three year period. The first year totals are $294,696, well within the $320,000 appropriated at town meeting for refuse pickup with additional funds provided to continue the garbage collection service.

A Woburn firm, which became the initiator of the municipal pickup and out-of-town disposal when the subject was debated at town meeting, had a total bid price of $1,067,300 for the three year period.

Stanley Rocketenetz, Inc., of Woburn, the firm mentioned at the town meeting was also above the South Shore proposal on a combination of all services, including garbage pickup, with a bid figure of $909,300.

Town Manager Austin, said that the Rocketenetz figures to include garbage pickup meant separate bagging and bringing the material to the street. Under the contract to be awarded to the Andover contractors, the garbage collection will continue to be rear yard pickup as at present.

The garbage collection was a stumbling block in some of the early considerations. Rocketenetz, whose firm uses a Billerica disposal site, would have been able to dump only refuse there. Billerica does not permit combined disposal and pays to have the garbage removed from the community according to authorities.

The Abington company will dispose of Andover's refuse at the Braintree incinerator. Town

Mosquito Spraying Program Adopted

A mosquito control program will be initiated within the next ten days, according to a vote of the selectmen meeting in special session Monday night.

The board, with only Selectman Alan F. French opposed, approved the implementation of a spraying program to provide relief, with property owners who request exemption from the insecticide treatment by passed, "insofar as possible."

The program adopted was on the recommendation of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, who, in his report to the board, was responding to the vote of the October, 1972 town meeting which authorized funds for the program.

No board of health hearing is scheduled at present, the selectmen acting on the premise that such is not required.

An attempt to delay implementation of any program until such time as the board of health terms the mosquito problem a health hazard, or holds a hearing, failed to win support. The motion was made by French and seconded by Chairman Roger W. Collins, who handed the gavel to Selectman Milton Greenberg to provide the second.

Class of '73 Graduates

The 114th commencement exercises of Andover High schools were held Wednesday evening with the awarding of diplomas to over 400 members of the Class of 1973.

Brendan P. Donahue, class vice president and Nancy L. Gilday, 1973 D.A.R. Award recipient gave the address of welcome.

Shelley L. Nannis presented the class theme, "A Tear And A Smile," and Irene Drivas presented the class gift.

FIRE AT ABBOT ACADEMY brought Andover fire apparatus to Draper Hall Wednesday, where fire attributed to careless smoking burned out one room, caused extensive smoke and water damage, forced removal of books from the library.

Abbot Dorm Room Burned

A smoking lounge fire at Abbot Academy early Wednesday morning left one room in Draper Hall, the Academy's main dormitory and administrative building, a charred and blackened ruins, but no girls were injured.

Abbot girls poured out of Draper in orderly fashion, but in every variety of nightgowns, pajamas, dresses and blue jeans to watch the Andover firefighters quell the blaze and smoke on a final exam morning, three days before Abbot's final Commencement Day.

The school is scheduled to combine and dissolve into a coed Phillips Academy later this month.

Andover Fire Chief Henry Hilton places the cause of the fire to "careless disposal of smoking materials." He said the condition of the student lounge - its rug fabric was burned through to the rubber mat and the wooden legs of one chair were completely burned off - indicated that the fire originated as a small slow smoldering fire in the night which gradually built up to the point where it activated the sprinkler and summoned the Fire Department.

Authorities credit the school's sprinkler system and a good job by Andover's Fire Department with keeping the fire from spreading to dormitory rooms directly overhead where some girls were still sleeping as the Fire Department arrived.

Abbot's local automatic fire horn did not sound - possibly because it had not been reset after the last fire drill, some academy officials conjectured. Early rising girls noted the smoke and pulled the manual alarm while the Fire Department was on the way. Evacuation of the building went

Planners Peruse 'Butterfly'

The Planning Board, examining the approved plans for the new elderly housing project on North Main street for the first time Monday night had some pertinent questions regarding adherence to town by laws for the members of the Andover Housing Authority.

The board told authority members they would put their comments in writing, probably prior to Monday night when the AHA is due to meet with the selectmen regarding the 96-unit project with its butterfly roofs and the buildings only seven feet apart.

The plans have received approval of the AHA on a three-two vote and have been further approved by the state housing board, according to a letter received this week.

Among the first questions asked of the AHA was why the particular roof style.

Noting the inverted roofs, Planner John Sheehy asked if the architect had taken into consideration the accumulation of snow within the contour during winter months.

AHA Member John White, who stated he was opposed to the design concurred with Sheehy stating it was his feeling that freezing snow would back up through the shingles and seep

Collins Ponders Candidacy

With the creation of an all Andover representative district by the state legislature in the recently approved redistricting plan, one of the prime advocates is now seriously considering his candidacy for the post.

Selectman Chairman Roger W. Collins, a Republican, said this week that he is giving the matter considerable thought and indicated he would probably be a candidate to Andover's first single community representative on Beacon Hill.

The election will be in the fall

NOTICE

Town Of Andover MOSQUITO SPRAYING PROGRAM

The Town of Andover plans to spray for mosquitoes using an ultra-low volume spray applying Malathion from the roadways two to four times per month starting the latter part of June and continuing thru July and August. Due to weather conditions the town will not be able to publish a schedule in advance.

Property owners who do not want their property sprayed may register their objections in writing with the Department of Public Works. In so far as possible town forces will attempt to avoid spraying those streets or portions of streets where a substantial number of property owners object to this program. There are mechanical limitations on the control of the spray equipment. Therefore, it will not be possible to honor individual "no spraying" requests.

Residents with severe respiratory disease may file with the Department of Public Works a letter from their doctor stating the need to avoid spraying their property.

Trash Pickup

Manager Austin reported that the selectmen of that community have given permission to South Shore to use the facility.

Craig will handle recyclable material, trash containers at the public schools and bulky items, such as heavy appliances, on call.

The bid items to be handled by South Shore and Craig include collection and disposal of rubbish only, collection of recyclable items, collection of material in town litter receptacles, collection of refuse from public school buildings and collection of bulky items.

Nabydoski Brothers of Andover are currently operating on a three year contract for garbage collection at $65,000 annually.

South Shore will be responsible for the pickup and disposal of the residential refuse, while Craig will handle the remainder of materials to be picked up.

Joseph Mesby of the Abington firm has had experience in such service in other communities, Austin reported.

Austin and Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade will be meeting with representatives of the contracting firms to establish a schedule which will be announced at a later date.

The initiation of the service is the result of state orders to close the Chandler Road sanitary landfill site. Three attempts to acquire a new site on Woburn street failed to win necessary support at three town meetings, with the result that at this year's annual town meeting the voters ordered the pickup service with out-of-town disposal.

As for the present dump site, ordered closed by June 1, Town Manager Austin said the site will remain in operation until the new service is initiated.

State health authorities will probably not press the matter in view of the positive action being taken by the town to close down the landfill.

Austin said that the matter of the Chandler road site will be discussed at the meeting of the selectmen Monday night.

The manager feels that investigation of continued limited use of the area should be probed with state authorities. Austin would like to see the area continued as a depository for leaves brush and stumps, as well as for storage of recyclable materials.

Town Recycling begins during the first week of July.

After a meeting with town officials, a committee of members of the League of Women Voters received the following information:

1. Pickup will be at curb side.
2. The first week, newspapers and magazines, tied or bagged, will be collected.
3. Glass will be collected during the second week. Glass should be separated by color, rinsed, with no caps or rings.

Start saving and watch the paper for more news on your town's recycling program.

Make the most of yourself, or the other fellow will make the most of you.

Mosquitoes

Collins had stated he was very much in favor of a program but would like to have the health board involved in the decision.

Selectman Greenberg commented that such action would result in a two or three week delay for a hearing, further time for a decision and in four or five weeks, "your bug season is over." Greenberg was prepared to move on the matter Monday night.

Several opponents to the spraying program were in attendance Monday night, but were not allowed comments, the selectmen stating that the hearing on the program had been held a week ago and only decisions would be forthcoming Monday.

Selectman French in his opposition said that he did not consider the matter a health hazard. As a selectman, he said, he would have to consider the health and welfare of the citizens as indicated by the board of health.

At present the mosquito is a nuisance factor and not a health hazard he felt.

French also noted at the hearing a week ago that the larva ciding program was not carried out in the spring due to weather conditions and under such circumstances, spraying would be ineffective.

Greenberg agreed with Selectman French that larva ciding would have been advisable and more effective. He was also agreeable on the issue of health hazard vs. nuisance factor, but said he was in favor of spraying.

Selectman Edmund Sullivan was in agreement that spraying was not the total solution, but the program as proposed was a moderate one and will provide a little relief.

When French asked who was to determine the length of the spraying season, Sullivan said that he felt he could give a good indication of necessity from where he reside, which brought a chuckle of unanimity from his colleagues.

The program is expected to be in operation within ten days, as soon as all equipment arrives, according to Robert E. McQuade, director of the public works department.

Areas to be exempted include conservation and Avis property, town of Andover watershed areas and streets or portions thereof where the exemption is requested by sufficient residents.

The spraying is to be done two to four times a month from roadways, weather permitting, June, July and August and early September if necessary.

The malathion spray to be used is considered the safest chemical useable for public programs.

Town Manager Austin notes that the adulticide program is designed to give relief to the nuisance and health hazard of the mosquito with a minimum of encroachment on the property of those who oppose spraying.

Brookfield Road To Be In Project

The first of a series of drainage contract has been awarded to a Methuen firm and will involve work on Brookfield Road, in accordance with a promise made by the selectmen a year ago.

George LaTulippe of Methuen, was the low bidder on the first contract at $35,342.75. James Bateson of Andover was second at $35,400 and Remy Construction and Engineering of Methuen was third at $41,065.78.

The contract include drainage improvement work in the Brookfield Road area. Residents of the particular section of town were before the selectmen about a year ago complaining of surface drainage conditions there in view of pending further development of Merrimack College property.

As an outgrowth of the discussion of problems of the area, the selectmen voted to give the area priority when the new programs were established for this year.

Additional contracts are anticipated as the public works department maps out its 1973 program to be accomplished with the $100,000 appropriated at town meeting.

Collins

of 1974.

Collins, whose father served several terms on Beacon Hill when Andover was included in a district with North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Ward One of Lawrence, was among those appearing at a state house hearing several weeks ago which resulted in the creation of the all-Andover district.

Prior to the hearing Andover was to be continued in districts with North Andover and Lawrence, with little chance of Andover representation.

Collins indicated that he would have to make a decision on the matter in consort with his plans concerning serving the town as a selectman. He indicated he would not hold both elective posts.

Program Response Encouraged

By Gary C. Ralph
The response to Community School Recreation summer enrichment/interest courses has been terrific.

This kind of encouragement is what makes our efforts worthwhile. The whole Recreation/Community School Department staff has enjoyed meeting the parents who came into the office to fill out their children's schedules.

This week I'd like to tell you about another program we will have this summer. For the second year we will have a co-operative Special Education Playground Program with North Andover. This program is partially funded by the State and the remaining costs split between the two towns. The program begins July 2 and continues through August 24. Transportation is furnished.

Kevin O'Grady, principal at Hawthorne, will direct the program again this year. The daily 8:45 to 12:15 program is divided into half hour blocks for passive and active recreation. Activities include organized, adaptive sports, arts and crafts, swimming, bowling, games, stories, drama and field trips. Effort is made to gear each child's daily schedule to his abilities and interests. The program serves the retarded, physically handicapped and emotionally disturbed children of both communities.

Information sheets and application blanks will be distributed through Special Education classes in the schools this week. If you feel your child might benefit from this program, please give me a call and I'll be glad to discuss it with you.

A different section of river was tried for a second run.

CAP Stands For Junior High Math

Andover junior high parents need to familiarize themselves with another set of initials - CAP - to keep up with their children's mathematics education.

The Continuous Advancement

Program was adopted by both Andover junior highs last fall as an extension of the Individualized Mathematics System (IMS) of the elementary schools.

The major emphasis of the program is to prepare students for success in Algebra I and additional advanced mathematics courses. CAP has been used successfully in the Dade County, Fla., schools for the past six years, and the Andover junior highs say they are finding it an effective program for junior high students coming out of an individualized elementary mathematics program. It has overlap with IMS to reteach or reinforce basic skills, and is individualized, but has a slightly different approach.

Most junior high students who finished all IMS levels at the end of the sixth grade enter the CAP program, and will take algebra upon completion of CAP. Students who did not finish all IMS levels in the sixth grade continue in IMS in the seventh grade, then go into CAP, and later into Algebra. Sixth graders who have finished IMS levels before the end of the year can begin in CAP in elementary school, but the majority of students complete IMS and enter CAP in either the seventh or the eighth grade. In CAP, as in IMS, a student who has already mastered the material in any unit may quickly "test out" of that unit and go on to the next topic.

The following list from the table of contents will give an overview of the areas covered in CAP math in the junior high schools:

Part I: Hindu Arabic Numeration System; Sets and Set Notation; Other Bases; Whole Numbers, Part I; Whole Numbers, Part II; Number Theory; Fractions; Decimal Fractions.

Part II: Ratio and Proportion; Percent; Integers; Number Sentences and Equations; Graphing; Measurement; Geometry; Precision and accuracy; Perimeter, Area, Volume.

Each unit, or section, of work consists of a rationale, a set of objectives to be mastered, a self-test or pre-test, a learning packet of "notes", and a battery of post-tests or mastery tests. Following the flow chart enclosed in the student booklets, the steps become familiar to each student, to move from the beginning steps to demonstrated mastery in a given unit.

Special Interest Courses : SEASCAPES IN OIL, TENNIS, GOLF & PORTRAITURE IN CHARCOAL SCULPTURE STUDIO

This basic course will help beginning students build an understanding-with-charcoal of the bones, muscles, planes and individual features of the human head. Students will work from large simplified art plates, and the instructor's demonstrations, initially. Portraits will be developed from the sculptured heads of a man and a woman. And, on the last night, students will draw from a living model.

This course is a condensed introductory studio for beginners. The two forms of the art - relief sculpture and sculpture-in-the-round - are considered. Each student will learn to build an armature: sculptural support of wire, metal and wood. They will model a wall plaque as an example of relief sculpture, and model a sculpture-in-the-round head. The instructor will develop step-by-step demonstration models with students.

In Search Of Administrators

It's administrator hunting time in the Andover school system.

Andover's South School principalship is still up in the air. Additional recent applicants now are being screened to join the candidate pool, according to Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, who says he hopes for final recommendations in two to three weeks.

The school system also may have an acting principalship to fill. A special school committee meeting was posted for just before the high school graduation Wednesday, and TOWNSMAN inquiries ascertained that Doherty Principal Earl Simon's request for a leave of absence was on the agenda.

The South School post is still up in the air because a New Jersey principal who was the teachers' and parents' clear choice, and who had told Andover on Tuesday that he would accept the principalship if the school committee offered it (as reported in the TOWNSMAN last week), pulled out of the agreement just a few hours before the school committee meeting called to consider his election.

Dr. Seifert told the TOWNSMAN that between Tuesday and Thursday, the principal had been offered and accepted a principalship in a flexible system he had previously worked in at higher pay than Andover was offering. "You have to expect that educators recognized for excellence are going to have multiple offers at any given point, and we will be just one of the bidders," Seifert said.

The Superintendent made it clear that he expects more than one recommendation from the school faculty and parents this time around - for him to consider, and so that the school committee can interview the finalists to get an idea of the calibre of the candidates, before he makes his recommendation to the committee.

Seifert said the new candidate pool for the South School principalship will consist of original candidates, minus the withdrawn favorite, plus new candidates screened by the administration from applications received after the original cut-off point. A person or persons from this group will go through the teacher and parent interview process. They also will meet with the administration group, who will judge yes or no on whether they can work with each new candidate.

The TOWNSMAN has ascertained that the administrators told Seifert they could work with all of the original group of interviewed candidates except one, who no longer is under consideration. The remaining pool has two in-system candidates and two from out of town, with some additions expected.

But this is not the end of An-dover's school administrative hiring.

A higher administrative post than the South School vacancy and the probable Doherty School leave of absence will need to be filled before January, 1974, if the school committee approves on June 19 the administrative reorganization they were enthusiastic about in May.

The new reorganization, a streamlining to save dollars and clarify lines of responsibility, calls for one assistant superintendent for elementary schools and one for secondary schools.

Andover now has in Ed Regan one recently elected assistant superintendent empowered to act as superintendent in Dr. Seifert's absence. The system will have to elevate or bring in another administrator as the second assistant superintendent by 1974, if the school committee adopts the reorganization and the administration follows the timetable it recommended. That makes probably three high administrative sets of shoes to fill. That's why it's administrator hunting season in the Andover schools.

Degree From Lafayette

Joshua L. Miner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Miner of Andover received a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering from Lafayette College on June 1. Miner prepared for college at the Governor Dummer Academy. While at Lafayette he was treasurer of his fraternity, co-captain of the Hockey Club and a member of the lacrosse team.

Giving the commencement address to the 480 graduating seniors was Dr. Herbert Ross Brown. Brown is the editor of New England Quarterly magazine and the retired chairman of the English Department at Bowdoin College.

Monsignor Robert J. Fox, director of Full Circle Associates, a nonsectarian inner-city human renewal organization in Spanish Harlem, and founder of New York's "Summer in the City" program, delivered the Baccalaureate address the day before commencement.

Lafayette awarded four honorary degrees. The recipients were William E. Simon, Deputy Secretary to the Treasury, Richard C. Richardson, Jr., president of the Northampton County Area Community College, Robert F. Hunsicker, founder of Allen Products Company and Monsignor Fox.

Camper Awards Presented

As part of the Outdoor Education Program for fifth graders at the West Elementary School, awards were presented to those children who were considered to be model students while at the Ocean Park Environmental School. The fifth graders went to Ocean Park, Maine in two groups on different weeks. In both cases an outstanding boy and girl were selected.

The "Best Campers" were chosen by the teachers from the West School who attended Ocean Park. Selection was based on such things as degree of involvement with the program, cooperation attitude, and conduct. Since the groups were so well behaved and working so hard, picking an outstanding boy and girl was most difficult. Many children displayed the characteristics necessary to "win." Nevertheless, a choice had to be made and the West staff selected Helen Holt and William Sharrow as the "Best Campers" from Pod A and Jane Ventola and Michael Starr as the "Best Campers" from Pod B. Congratulations are in order for not only our "Best Campers" but also for all members of the fifth grade at West who participated in the program. Well done, kids.

At 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday evening, June 6, at the West School PTO meeting, slides will be shown of the fifth graders in action at Ocean Park.

Softball Tryouts For Girls

A Girl's Softball League is being organized by the Recreation/Community School Department. Girls between the ages of 12 and 16 are eligible to try out for the team. Competition will be against towns including Billerica, Burlington, Chelmsford, St. Theresa, Wilmington, and Woburn. The team will be limited to 20 players.

Girls who wish to try out should be at the Recreation Park field by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 16. Try outs will include fielding, hitting, and base running. Girls participating must bring their own gloves. The Recreation/Community School Department will supply the bats, balls, and uniforms for the girls who are selected.

There will be a second league formed for girls who are 9 to 12 years old. These girls should call the Recreation/Community School Department to sign up or sign up their Phys. Ed. office. This League will compete with other teams from Andover established as an in-town league.

Chris Maietta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maietta, 25 Bannister Road, Andover, stroke of the second boat, has been elected captain of the PA varsity crew, succeeding Bill Kerins of North Andover.

The captain-elect began the season rowing number six in his boat, but was moved to stroke, the man who rows in the stern, sets the pace and determines the strategy of the race.

"Chris was the strong choice for captain; he is an intelligent, active boy, with determination and competence," commented his coach, Anthony J. He had one of the leads in the PA student production, "Kiss Me Kate" this spring.

With a certified instructor and a high school aide related to each one, an excellent teacher-pupil ratio is possible as all class enrollments are kept small. Instruction on all levels of ability, beginner through advanced, is available in morning or afternoon classes in most sections of the two towns, for children 4-12 years of age according to age groups. In addition, at selected locations, a limited number of other programs will be scheduled including several Mom and Tot classes for mothers and three and four year olds, classes for women, and for advanced pupils. Any family which has not received information by mail may obtain copies at the Andover YMCA building.

Pools where programs are being offered are listed below with family name and address. Age groups and/or special programs being scheduled in each may be determined by consulting the full schedule available at the YMCA.

In each case, classes will meet once a week for eight weeks except for the Reid and Langevin pools where classes will be scheduled twice a week for four weeks. Over 120 class periods are available and almost 1,000 pupils can be accommodated. Day Student Again Crew Captain

The Phillips Academy crew will be captained by a local day student for the second year in a row in 1973-74.

Chris Maietta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maietta, 25 Bannister Road, Andover, stroke of the second boat, has been elected captain of the PA varsity crew, succeeding Bill Kerins of North Andover.

The captain-elect began the season rowing number six in his boat, but was moved to stroke, the man who rows in the stern, sets the pace and determines the strategy of the race.

"Chris was the strong choice for captain; he is an intelligent, active boy, with determination and competence," commented his coach, Anthony J. Hill, a transplanted Australian teacher who coached PA's second boat this year. Chris is active in student affairs besides his demanding crew schedule. He had one of the leads in the PA student production, "Kiss Me Kate" this spring.

The second boat surpassed the coaches' expectations, according to this year's head coach, Christopher Kirkland, and its speed and youth make varsity prospects for next year look good.

The varsity crew beat perennially strong Kent, Harvard Freshmen, Mt. Herman, St. John's and Holy Cross this spring, losing to the BU and UMass Freshmen, St. Paul's and finally Exeter, on Saturday. The Andover crew led most of the early race Saturday, says Kirkland, but didn't have the reserves to hold off the championship Exeter crew, which posted a record time in winning. PA came in third out of eleven New England crews in the interscholastics, behind Exeter and St. Paul's, they also won a tri-crew meet for four oarsmen and a coxswain over Brown and Nichols in May.

While the Exeter swept Saturday's races against the Phillips Academy boys, the Abbot Academy crew, coached by PA's Jack McClement, swept the Exeter girls' crew, in its first year of competition. Both Abbot boats won. Rowing for Abbot were Margo Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Leonard Kent, and Karen Rainville, daughter of Mrs. Monica Rainville, Methuen.

Andover, No. Andover In Tie

By Rick Harrison

Despite the all-around heroics of Glenn Verrette, the Andover Babe Ruth Baseball team failed to win its opening game in the Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League on Monday night.

But the local club didn't lose either, battling North Andover to a 6-6 stalemate at Grogan's Field.

Verrette did it all for Andover, handling the mound duties and powering the offense in the seven-inning game called by darkness.

At the plate Verrette went 4-for-4 with a triple, double, two singles and four RBIs. He capped the perfect performance with a two-out, two-run double in the top of the seventh to erase a 6-4 deficit.

On the mound the lefthander deserved a better fate, limiting North Andover to three hits while fanning eight and walking five. However, seven errors enabled North Andover to score five unearned runs during the contest.

Andover spiked seven hits altogether, with Steve Galvin delivering a pair of sharp singles and Thom Lawler adding a single.

Andover vaulted to a quick 3-0 lead in the first. Galvin reached on an error, Lawler walked and Mike McCormick bunted them Verrette followed with a long triple to rightfield, and he then scored on Pete Aumais' sacrifice fly.

North Andover made it 3-1 in the bottom of the third. Leadoff batter Mike Rullo reached third on a three-base throwing error, and trotted home moments later on Rich Connors' sacrifice fly.

The home team took the lead at 4-3 in the fifth, scoring a trio of tainted runs when Andover made three fielding mistakes. Key hit of the inning was Connors' two-run single.

Andover battled back to knot the score 4-4 in the sixth. Glenn Verrette led with a single, raced to third on a throwing error, and scored on Mark LaLonde's sacrifice fly to centerfield.

North Andover regained a 6-4 edge in the bottom of the sixth. Mike Chaput reached on an infield error, went to second on a balk and tallied the go-ahead run on Rullo's triple to right-center. Rullo subsequently scored on a wild pitch.

The Andover seventh was a wild affair, chock full of questionable umpires' decisions and arguments.

With one out Steve Galvin beat out an infield hit, took second on a wild throw and advanced to third on a passed ball.

Another passed ball appeared to bounce out of play behind the backstop, but the umpire ruled the ball playable and Galvin was nailed at the plate trying to score. This left two out and the bases empty with Andover on the short end of a 6-4 score.

Lawler then walked on a 3-2 pitch, and Mike McCormick followed with another free pass on a 3-2 serve.

The count ran to 3-1 on Verrette before he hammered a long off-field double down the leftfield line.

John Lyons, running for Lawler, and McCormick scored easily. Verrette tried to stretch the hit into a triple, and appeared to evade the attempted tag by NA third baseman Mike Chaput.

The base umpire at first declined to make a call, appealed to the plate umpire who made no ruling, and then decided to call Verrette out. This ended the inning and cost Andover another potential run.

North Andover went down easily in their half of the seventh, after which the game was called.

The entire game will be replayed at a later date, although all records for the contest remain official.

Andover was slated to face Prospect Hill at the Playstead Field on Tuesday, after TOWNSMAN presstime, and the locals host Methuen at the Playstead tonight.

Astros 19, Dodgers 3 - Matt Carroll and David Marsden chucked three superb innings apiece while their mates hammered the Dodgers' hurlers for 19 big runs. Kevin Grundy and Glen Demers led the parade of hitters with a homerun each. Demers nearly notched a second homerun but was called out on a close play at the plate. Ken Smith made a beautiful throw from the outfield to Eric Darby at second to catch a baserunner for the best defensive play of the night. Tom Fox played his usual outstanding game.

Rusty Morrison, Richard Chapell, David Chechik and Mark Winer were the big hitters for the Dodgers.

Braves 7, Giants 4 - Robby Serbagi pitched a masterful 7 hitter and belted out a homerun with a mate on board to lead the Braves to victory. Richard Neville became the big hitter of the night by blasting out a grand slam homerun. Mike Donehue accounted for the other RBI with a timely bingle. Bill Scheerer the sparky, spunky catcher for the Braves executed the fielding gem of the decade when he made a wild running dive after a foul pop-up, rolled over two or three times and came up with both the ball and a smile for the final out of the game.

For the Giants, Sean Flanigan got 3 hits in 3 times at bat and scored 2 runs. Mike Lynch got 2 safeties in 3 appearances including a solid double while David Grant homered and tripled driving in 3 runs to star for the Giants. Grant also pitched an excellent game striking out 10 batters.

Phillies 10, Cardinals 9 - Joe Durant lashed out 2 homers one a truly savage clout, Charles Kolodgy also poled a four bagger while Bobby Stammers came up with a clutch hit which brought Peter Lamson scampering across home plate with the winning tally as the Red Hot Phillies, losing 6-1 in the early innings of the game won another close one.

The Cards played an outstanding game with some truly excellent fielding by Scott Wilson, Rusty Porter, Fred D'Urso and Jim Thompson.

Pirates 14, Redlegs 9 - Andy Cobin smashed out a homerun and John Grecoe collected 2 hits in 3 times at bat behind a fine hurling effort by Bruce Barnhill as the Pirates defeated the Redlegs to remain in sole possession of first place in the National Minor League.

The Redlegs were paced by Robert Foley who banged out 3 hits and stole 4 bases and by Doug Starkweather, John Perowski and Mike Tanner all of whom contributed resounding doubles to the doomed cause.

Astros 10, Pirates 8 - In one of the most exciting games of the season, the indomitable Astros toppled the Pirates from the first place position that they had occupied all season. For the Astros, Ted Paris clouted 2 four baggers including one that went over the fence while Scott Harris made a tremendous catch of a screaming liner at 2nd base. David Marsden and Ken Smith divided the pitching honors, each performing superbly on the mound. But, the big play of the season came in the bottom half of the last inning with 2 outs and the bases chock full of Pirates. The Pirates batter hit a long savage clout to deep left field, but, Eric Darby of the Astros rocketed over and pulled it down to save the game.

For the Pirates, Matt Tomlinson hit an over the fence homerun with 2 men on board while both Doug Kirkland and John Grecoe banded out 3 safeties in 3 trips to the plate to lead the attack. Bruce Barnhill pitched well in relief for the losers. He came in with the bases loaded and two out and readily disposed of the opposing batsman.

Phillies 16, Braves 10 - The Phillies moved into first place by virtue of their own win and the Pirates loss to the Astros. Eric Koromhas doubled knocking in 2 runs and catcher Joe Durant spiked 3 bingles in 4 trips to the plate to star on offense for the Phils. Durant also pulled off a fine defensive play when he made a great catch on a foul pop-up. At one time the Phils trailed 7-2 but some timely hitting and outstanding relief pitching by Matt Cremonni brought them victory. Cremonni gave up only 3 runs in four innings while compiling 9 strikeouts including the last three batters.

Mike Donehue went 3 for 3 including 2 doubles while Mark Annick contributed an excellent catching performance for the losers. Braves' fans were greatly cheered by the tremendous potential exhibited by Mark Easton in a fine relief pitching stint.

Miss Collins Was On Lacross Team

Gail Collins, 6 Tamys Lane, Andover, a senior at Westbrook College, was a member of the College's lacross team which recently completed a 2-2 season.

Coached by Miss Pat Smith, Westbrook dropped decisions to Bowdoin and the University of Maine at Portland-Gorham, and recorded victories over the Hinkley School and Waynflete School.

Miss Collins is enrolled in Westbrook's Nursing Program. She is a graduate of Andover High School.

Mr. Businessman:

FINANCIAL ACCURACY IS A TOUGH NUT.

UNLESS STANDARD DATA IS YOUR NUT CRACKER.

Do you really know what has happened during a month when you close the books? Chances are you never really have a truly accurate picture of your financial situation.

In fact, most businesses don't have the financial accuracy they need for control. And getting such controls at your price is indeed a tough nut to crack.

Fortunately, an excellent "nutcracker" is now available. It's STANDARD DATA. And it works like this:

STANDARD DATA's staff of experts and its mammoth computer are available for your accounting and management systems. We've developed financial and manufacturing management programs, such as payables, receivables, payroll, even general ledger, and inventory control.

Best of all, STANDARD DATA can get cracking for you today on a job-by-job basis. So regardless of the nut you have to crack, give STANDARD DATA a crack at it... it only costs peanuts.

I'm interested in the STANDARD DATA approach. Please send me more information about how your "nutcracker" can help solve our problem in the area of:

☐ Receivables ☐ Mat'l Requirements Planning ☐ Payables ☐ General Ledger
☐ Payroll ☐ Inventory Control ☐ Cost of Sales ☐ Bill of Mat'l

The Butterfly

Colonial Andover, whose public buildings for the most part defy its stated tradition, is now threatened with what might be termed a modernistic monstrosity in the form of new elderly housing units on North Main street.

Architectural plans for the new 96-unit project to rise on the Curran estate, in addition to being obnoxious in appearance, also take no cognizance of the town's bylaws or planning board rules and regulations.

Defiance of local ordinances, of course, is the right of state and local agencies, such as the housing authority, but often simple courtesy moves projects such as these along more easily and comfortably.

The buildings are to be seven feet apart and to be topped off by what is architecturally termed a butterfly roof.

Such construction, from a layman's point of view, gives every indication of being a convenient catchall for snow in particular.

Housing Authority officials say that the architect assures them otherwise. Coils, drainage, etc., will sweep the snow from the inverted wings, it is claimed.

How exposed have the architects been to New England winters, we ask?

Problem, of course, is that the town needs the elderly housing units to meet the increasing demand.

State authorities have accepted the plans, as well as the local housing authority members on a three-two vote.

Following the acceptance of the plans over the objections of Members Thomas Wallace and John White, the Andover Housing Authority members proceeded to present the plans to the planning board.

Chairman Thomas P. Eldred, Winston Blake and Atty. Richard Savrann the approving board members, along with those in opposition are scheduled to present the plans to the selectmen Monday night.

Architectural contention that the butterfly roof is more economical than a gambrel, as reported by local housing authority members, seems to us not completely convincing enough to opt for the present plans.

There appears to be still time to make changes and we suggest that such be done, in view of the application of public funds for this project in Andover.

The actual construction funds may not be coming directly from local taxpayers, but Andover's taxpayers provide sufficient in state and federal taxation to have a say in what type of building is more adaptable to their community.

Applause

Public servants, such as selectmen, must bear the brunt of results of their decision making from time to time.

This week, we would applaud their decision of Monday night to go forward with a mosquito spraying program.

In reaching a decision, with only Selectman Alan F. French opposed, the board members flew in opposition to conservationists, environmentalists and others who consider relief from mosquitoes through spraying harmful.

But, the board was following a clear mandate from the town, whose taxpayers provided funds last October at open town meeting for a mosquito control program.

A last grasp at opposition to spraying was to have the board of health hold a hearing to consider whether the mosquito problem was a health hazard.

By their lack of comment on the matter the local health authorities either choose not to get involved, or maybe do not actually consider the problem hazardous to health.

One could probably debate the health issue, but no one can quarrel with the fact that mosquitoes are now and have been a nuisance. To some, whose children have been infected by the insects, it is definitely a health matter.

Any form of relief is most welcome.

We are for environmental quality, ecology standards and protection of birds and wildlife.

But, most of all, here in Andover, after plopping down a sizeable sum for a home, doling out sizeable quantities to educate our children, and pay for municipal operations through taxes, we don't intend to give the back yard over to mosquitoes.

A solid dose of malathion to the little buzzards.

Commencement

The commencement season reaches its peak this week, with the majority of schools holding appropriate exercises marking another milestone for individuals concerned.

For some, commencement marks another step toward a goal, as in the case of the high school or preparatory school graduate. For others, at the college, university or specialized educational institution level, the exercises mark completion of preparation for life's work.

For all it is a happy time, a time to reflect, if briefly, on significant accomplishment.

For the graduates of 1973, a world of challenge awaits.

In scanning the headlines of today, one might be apprehensive in view of the varied crises and troubles surrounding the everyday happenings of our nation and world.

Yet the graduates of the past, as history would clearly show, have faced similar challenges and problems, met them well and moved onward.

Astronauts experimenting in space as commencement speakers address the class of '73 is evidence of the reliance on youthful dreams of graduates of another era.

So, too, today, we salute our youthful graduates who enter a new life, armed with the tools provided by modern educational processes, searching for truth through knowledge, to continue to improve the lives of all.

To the Class of '73, our congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Despite the growth of a town like North Andover one must continue to appreciate its retention of a rural characteristic as evidenced by a black and white cow grazing by the side of Waverly road within earshot of the busy route 495 expressway.

Even more appreciated is the fact that cow and car pass perilously, neither too sure what the other has in mind.

News photographers have been having a field day with some sharp photographs of first female graduates from previously all-male institutions.

One particularly sharp photo appeared in a Salem newspaper this past week of a nearby preparatory school where long rows of capped and gowned males was interrupted by the appearance of a rather attractive female leg emerging from the gown.

Who said cities have to be dull and dreary.

The area of Boston occupied by the Prudential Center and Christian Science complex, has taken on a most appealing face.

The recently completed church center has joined with the Pru center in planting thousands of geraniums, petunias and other plants, giving an impressive and colorful display right in the heart of the city.

We're not sure whether an envelope without address reached our office by postal authorities or through some other method, but a drawing on the front showed our Central street location.

The item appears in this week's edition through the properly directed envelope which directs the carrier out of Elm square past the Baptist church, a house and then our office building.

A meeting for all Cole descendants has been set for 2.00 p.m., Sunday afternoon, July 8, at the York United Methodist Church, Route 1-A, York Village, Maine, by the Cole Family Association, Inc. The meeting is open to all Cole descendants and anyone interested. A general reunion will follow the meeting. Those attending are invited to bring a picnic supper.

The Cole Family Association, Inc. was organized in 1972 to coordinate the efforts of those who are interested in Cole genealogy and promote fellowship among all Cole descendants. The Association is collecting, preserving, and distributing information about Coles and their families. It is setting up a clearing house and cross index file where Cole descendants may deposit information and obtain data about their ancestry.

There were several Cole families in New England prior to 1650. One of these families moved to Long Island, New York and at least one descendant of a different family settled in southwestern Virginia before the Revolutionary War. Just how these early Cole families from England may have been related is not clear, although some relationships are known.

Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Michael J. Dukakis, a refusal to abide by his convention's choice on a vote against Governor Sargent, has led to a pending motion to abolish such convention.

Mr. Dukakis, a Brookline dentist and former State Representative who relinquished his seat to run for Lieutenant Governor in 1970 as Boston Mayor White unsuccessfully challenged Governor Sargent, said the Legislature's vote for primaries convention is a candidacy.

But he still favors a 50 percent or more of the vote to run in party primaries. He credits the current constitutional primary system with general state-wide exposure through the media.

A lawyer with a reputation for progressive legislative leanings, he has together a determined effort in communities throughout the state while his most recent party rival - Attorney Robert H. Quinn - has been in rounds of Chamber of Commerce clubs to build up his campaign.

Both men are actively campaigning for the Governor's chair. Quinn thought that convention delegates would have picked Mr. Quinn, - thus letting Dukakis "run again" in the ensuing primary.

Now, the situation has changed. Mr. Dukakis isn't like the state-wide exposure through the media, though he has plenty of free publicity through months as moderator of educational television "The Advocates."

Nevertheless, the campaign departs from the

Beacon Hill Observations

By Bill Kirtz

Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Michael J. Dukakis' refusal to abide by his party convention's choice on who runs against Governor Sargent next year has led to a pending move to abolish such conventions.

Mr. Dukakis, a Brookline resident and former State Representative who relinquished his seat to run for Lieutenant-Governor in 1970 as Boston Mayor Kevin White unsuccessfully challenged Governor Sargent, says the Legislature's vote for open primaries convention helps his candidacy.

But he still favors setting 20 percent or more of the convention vote as a standard for getting to run in party primaries. He credits the current convention-primary system with getting him state-wide exposure three years ago.

A lawyer with a record of progressive legislation and liberal leanings, he's put together a determined organization in communities throughout the state while his most probable party rival - Attorney-General Robert H. Quinn - makes the rounds of Chamber of Commerce clubs to build up his candidacy.

Both men are actively seeking the Governor's chair; it's thought that convention delegates would have preferred Mr. Quinn, - thus letting Mr. Dukakis "run against the bosses" in the ensuing primary.

Now, the situation has changed. Mr. Dukakis isn't likely to get the state-wide exposure of a party convention, though he's gotten plenty of free publicity in past months as moderator of the educational television show, "The Advocates."

Nevertheless, the candidate departs from the usual professional caution to acknowledge that organizational and funding matters are going well: "so well I can't believe it."

His tactics in 1974 will be to lambaste Governor Sargent's proposed reorganization of state government as mere public relations.

"The point isn't to decentralize state services," Mr. Dukakis maintains, "but to make the Governor accountable."

Too Many Hands

Republicans argue that the threads of state government are now in too many hands, that to ensure real accountability the Governor must be able to restructure the organization under which cabinet secretaries have more power.

Mr. Dukakis criticizes the present state bureaucracy, suggesting that official cooperation with non-professional services like the YMCA can help strengthen such departments as Youth Services.

By the 1960s, he says, the YSB - "riddled with political foolishness and hackery by both parties" - was "a disaster." By closing down what he terms "crime universities" in favor of community-based facilities, he says, the rate of youths' return to crime has been cut.

It's almost impossible to talk with any political candidate these days without mentioning Watergate.

Governor Sargent had lauded the President's "guts, experience and bold overtures for peace" in a vain bid to help carry Massachusetts into the GOP column last November.

Will this stand hurt him in 1974?

"He couldn't be very happy about Watergate," says Mr. Dukakis, "but any Democrat who thinks that Watergate is going to win for him is fooling himself. Massachusetts has a good history of making distinctions between parties and issues."

1973 Fox - Newest Member of the Audi Family

"First class accommodations at a coach class price." This is the way Car & Driver characterizes Audi's newest model - the Fox, which is currently winning praise from the auto magazines. Road & Track calls the new Fox "a brilliantly designed new small sedan." Motor Trend says it's the "best new (affordable) small sedan in the world." To Popular Imported Cars the Fox is "a delight to drive, handles well and is priced right."

See and drive this newest member of the Audi family at Park Hegarty Porsche Audi, Inc., 222 Lowell Street in Lawrence. You'll be impressed with its appearance, performance, interiors and its safety features. Together they promise to make the Audi Fox a most popular import in a relatively short time.

Powered by an overhead camshaft engine, the Fox is a four passenger sedan with sporty performance. Reclining front bucket seats are part of its standard equipment and the trunk is large enough for a family's luggage. Both two and four-door versions are available with either a four speed fully synchronized transmission or an optional automatic. A sliding steel sunroof is just one of the options on this new front-wheel drive Audi Fox.

As Motor Trend says, "You'll find everything you could possibly want in the newest Audi, a startlingly good automobile." It is an artful blend of the best of the latest Italian and German-American designs for production engines. It's quiet and smooth for a four, with gas mileage on the high side of 20 under all conditions. All things considered, it's a highly efficient people mover!

The Fox is available now from your local Porsche Audi dealer, Park Hegarty Porsche Audi, Inc., 222 Lowell Street, Lawrence, who also sell and service the Audi 100 LS and GL and Porsche sports cars. Open weekdays till 9, Saturdays till 4.

Mrs. Lange is well known for her prize winning designs with plant material, as well as for her mobiles and sculpture at various art exhibits.

Produce Arriving From Farms

Amid the welter of depressing news these days comes a note of cheer from the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA) this week: fresh produce from nearby farms is coming in, and prices are beginning to ease. As our Massachusetts farmers bring in the crops, it is quite evident that prices of competitive produce will climb down somewhat from their current dizzy heights.

Boston and romaine lettuce, and some bibb and salad bowl lettuce, are now appearing at nearby farm stands and some food markets. The supply currently is light, but adequate to meet demand. There is no union problem with lettuce grown in the Bay State.

Many homemakers tend to discard the outside leaves of a head of lettuce - poor practice, says the MDA. The outside leaves are more nutritious than the hearts, because they are greener, contain more oxygen and vitamins.

Bunch radishes, rhubarb and scallions fresh from the fields are in reasonable supply, too, at roadside markets. Rhubarb will continue through the month, with the harvest tapering off as the growers get busy with other crops. The scallions should be good news in the current onion-scarce market. They won't fully substitute for onions, but surely help add flavor and interest to meals.

Massachusetts-grown spinach will also be found in good supply at roadside farm stands. This local crop is offered in bulk - leaves and stalks - and is not packaged in cellophane (usually, leaves only) as found in supermarkets. Displayed as grown in the fields, this is a virtual guarantee of freshness. MDA experts recommend cooking the entire stalk for flavor and nutrition.

The tomato market is relatively reasonable this week - a marked change from the past seven or eight months. The appearance of green-house tomatoes from local producers appears to have made the difference. Supplies are good at the roadside.

Highway User Taxes Total 12% Revenue

Boston, Mass., Highway-user taxes accounted for 12 percent of Massachusetts' tax revenues in fiscal 1972, according to James A. MacGregor, chairman of the Massachusetts Petroleum Council.

Citing figures compiled by the U.S. Bureau of Census, MacGregor said that in fiscal 1972, Massachusetts collected $216,416,000 in highway - user taxes. The state's total tax revenues during that 12 - month period amounted to $1,805,335,000, he pointed out.

The principal source of highway - user taxes, MacGregor reported, was levies on motor fuels. In fiscal 1972, such taxes accounted for $172,852,000, which represented 9.6 percent of the state's total tax receipts, he said.

In addition to the motor fuel revenues, Massachusetts took in $34,018,000 in motor vehicle registration fees and $9,546,000 in drivers' license fees in fiscal 1972, MacGregor stated.

As a timely welcome to summer a traditional American picnic is planned by the International Institutes of Lawrence and Boston at Captain's Pond Reservation in Salem, N.H. on Sunday, June 10. The site is maintained by the Greater Lawrence YMCA.

People from all nationalities interested in the Institutes' work are invited to attend. Planned activities include soccer, volleyball, children's games, swimming and dancing. Individuals are encouraged to bring guitars or other musical instruments which they play.

Participants may bring a picnic, a grill for preparing their own food or buy from an Institute food booth. The selection is typically American: fried chicken, hot dogs, potato salad, cake, ice cream and hot and cold drinks.

The picnic begins at 10 a.m. and continues until 9 p.m.

A rational alternative to rationing gas.

Well if it were true, we'd be saving 28 billion, 560 million gallons of gas every year.

How did we arrive at that figure?
Since we're a nation of national averages, we know the average car uses about 735 gallons of gas a year.
The Beetle, 399*. Turn the eighty-five million average cars on the road right now into Beetles, and it works out to a saving of 28,560,000,000

(give or take a few gallons).

Now we haven't figured out all the water and antifreeze that would be saved with the Beetle's air-cooled engine.

Nor can we compute the extra parking space that would be around.

Not to mention all the money people would be able to save in a world of Volkswagens.

But we know for sure that this is no pipe dream. There already are police car Beetles up in Ossining.
And a custom built, chauffeur-driven Bug in L. A. And Volkswagen taxis all over Honduras. And a Beetle that herds cattle in Missouri.

So with gas prices going up and rationing becoming a reality, the Beetle never looked so good. In fact, you might almost call it beautiful.

38 Children's Festival At Sanborn

THE TOWNSMAN, JUNE 7, 1973

Sanborn School first grades was the setting for a Children's Festival on Wednesday, May 23. The Festival was held under the direction of teachers Mrs. Agnes Devejian, Mary Bartow, Sheila Zeder, and student teacher Mary Grassi from Lesley College. The festival was a culmination of a social studies unit on the life and work styles of people in various locations. The places studied included Japan, Borneo, Maine, Texas, Alaska, Hawaii, Germany and Kenya. The children came to school dressed as representatives of one of the above places. Parents also contributed to the festival by preparing foods from the areas studied.

New Staff Members
A new staff member in the Children's Room is Nancy Hickey of 12 Ridge Street, Andover. Miss Hickey received her BA from Lowell State College in English in June 1972. She has a number of hobbies including needlepoint and furniture refinishing, but most of her time and thought outside of the Children's Room right now is taken up with plans for her wedding which is going to take place in September.

Our new Interlibrary Loan Librarian is Nancy Richards of Reading, Mass. Miss Richards graduated from Mount Holyoke College with a BA in Classics in 1971. In January 1973 she received her MLS from Simmons. During the past year she has worked on a large statistical report for the Division of Occupational Education of the Mass. Department of Education.

Arts and Crafts
Once again we happily announce that our summer arts and crafts classes will be held for six weeks beginning July 10 and running until August 16. Anyone who has completed at least one year of school is welcome. Four groups of children will be formed with classes meeting once a week on Tuesday or Thursday mornings at 9:30 or 11:00. You may state your preference when you register. Due to the $3.00 registration fee which is needed for supplies, we ask that parents register for their children by July 5.

Putting It Together
Putting what together? A puzzle! This year be part of a team at summer reading club. For each book you read, you will be able to put a piece into your team's giant jigsaw puzzle. The object? Be the first team to complete the whole puzzle - that team will receive a special treat! Of course, everyone who reads three or more books will be invited to a party before school starts. Everyone who reads eight or more books will receive a certificate. Who will be on your team?

Instrument Exhibit

The Boston Museum of Fine Arts' first exhibition of musical instruments, one of the first to be held in this country, explores the music of Massachusetts during and after colonization. A selection of rare and beautiful instruments primarily from the Museum's own collection are on view from now until September. Entitled Early Music in Massachusetts, the exhibition was organized by the Museum's Musical Instruments Keeper and sponsored by the Colonial Society of Massachusetts.

Gracefully shaped pianos, harpsichords, lutes, citterns and cellos are complemented by paintings, prints, drawings, songbooks and other forms of documentation which form a picture of the musical activity in Massachusetts and particularly Boston.

In the past, musicologists presumed that because of the Puritan influence, secular music was not practiced in Massachusetts. While professional musicians did not find work in this part of the country, this exhibition demonstrates that the community itself was involved in both ecclesiastical and secular music. Personal inventories, many of which are on view, prove that many people owned instruments even in the first hundred years of settlement. The Puritan settlers left England in a period when music flourished and it is unlikely that they would totally abandon their musical heritage.

The exhibition includes the first notice of a public concert held in Boston, which appeared in the Boston Gazette in 1729. Boston's two concert halls of the period, Faneuil Hall and Kings Chapel, are shown in a drawing and an engraving.

The exhibition is divided into three areas of music: music played in public places, music played in the home and music played in church. An organ and pedal board as well as cellos and viola da gambas represent instruments played at church services. One of the most fascinating church instruments of the 18th century is a New England folk cello, made by J. Jewett, on loan from the Smithsonian Institute. The head of the instrument is carved in the shape of a demonic face similar to the ones that appear on New England tombstones.

A fife, drum and bugle, played in military bands, are on view with fiddles heard in taverns and other instruments played in public places. A portrait of Timothy Swan (1758-1844) and two songsters, celebrate one of Massachusetts' finest composers. Recordings of some of his songs and other popular ballads will play continuously in the gallery. The exhibition includes broadsheets printed with words of some of these songs.

Robert A. Walsh

Honored By College Of Pharmacy

Robert A. Walsh, 19 Wolcott Ave., Andover was the recipient of an honorary degree at the Commencement Exercises of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

The degree of Doctor of Pharmacy, honoris causa, was conferred on him for his "notable and outstanding services to pharmaceutical education, his profession, his students, and the College."

Dr. Walsh, professor of Biology and Director of Continuing Education at the College of Pharmacy has been on the faculty for 37 years and is a graduate of Lawrence High School, the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, and Boston University.

During his career in pharmacy, Dr. Walsh has been executive vice president of Patch Pharmaceuticals and Chief of Pharmacy at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston.

He is currently chairman of the Andover Board of Health, former chairman of the Andover Chapter National Red Cross, and President of the Visiting Nurses Association of Andover. He holds memberships in numerous professional and fraternal organizations.

He and his wife, the former Anna Hanlon, are the parents of five children: Dorothy, wife of Arthur Driscoll, Jane, wife of James Reilly, Rev. Robert A. Walsh, O.S.A., vice principal of Austin Preparatory School, William J. and Eleanor M.

Abbott Fire

remarkably smoothly, Dean Carolyn Johnston reported.

There was concern over two missing girls, but they turned up with their cameras from an early morning walk, a customary procedure their housemother was familiar with.

Next concern was for the library, located directly below the burned out area. Here water that doused the blaze was raining through the chandelier, light fixtures and down bookshelf walls in some rooms.

Firemen had placed tarps over tables of reading material to protect them, but some books on the shelves were already wet at 8:15 a.m. when the TOWNSMAN inspected the scene with Carolyn Goodwin, Abbot's Director of Studies. Dampness from the soaking carpets would do more damage. History Teacher Mary Minard came through a window to be sure that important historical documents in a case standing in the center of a library room were protected from damage.

By mid-morning, Phillips Academy's Office of Physical Plant, which already has jurisdiction over Abbot Buildings and grounds, had organized a book brigade. Endangered books were being moved from the library into McKen Hall.

But it still was exam week on the Hill. Students asked Miss Goodwin, Dean-Elect of Phillips Academy next year, if the 8 o'clock exams would be cancelled.

"No indeed, The show must go on," was her reply, and students moved off to face the fire of final examinations. Abbot is left with a mess three days before their final Commencement, but Dean of Students Carolyn Johnston says they are thankful the fire didn't spread to endanger girls.

Mrs. Johnston surveyed the blackened ruins of the smoking lounge, and the smoke and water damage to other rooms and corridors and commented "This ought to say something to the smokers!"

into the interior of the buildings.

Thomas R. Wallace, also opposed, said the AHA had been told by the architect that the roof was the most economical. Drains would be provided to carry off water. The Design was also necessary because of the space between the buildings.

The seven foot distance between buildings evoked critical commentary from Planning Chairman Mrs. Margaret Keck.

Noting that the housing authority could bypass local rules and regulations, Mrs. Keck said, "there is nothing in the plans which conforms to our bylaws. It seems the architect should have taken into consideration our rules and regulations in drawing them up."

Noted was the distance between buildings, and the height of the buildings among other items.

Chairman Thomas R. Wallace informed the planners that the architect had been asked about a gambrel roof. Costs would increase by about $3,000 per building, and gutters and downspouts would have to be installed the board was informed, Wallace said.

The planners then said they would examine the drawing further and forward their comments to the local AHA for transmittal to the state.

council during her two years at Katharine Gibbs.

An earthworm does not push soil aside; it eats its way through and can make a burrow in four days. The sides of the tunnels are cemented by mucus from the worm which prevents cave-ins. Water and gases flow through the tunnels, and plant roots spread into them, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.
